Student-led Courses Open Call: Create a Course, Transform Your Campus!

The BAUHAUS4EU European University Alliance invites students from all partner institutions to submit proposals for Student-led interdisciplinary courses (SLCs) – innovative, interdisciplinary and challenge-based learning formats inspired by the principles of the New European Bauhaus (NEB) Initiative.

SLCs are educational formats, where students actively design and prepare the curriculum. Within the BAUHAUS4EU Alliance, these courses empower participants as change agents to lead green and inclusive campus transformations. Do you have an idea which you'd like to be transformed in a course? Discover how to submit it here!

2nd BAUHAUS4EU Photography Contest for Students

We are inviting all students from the BAUHAUS4EU universities to unveil their talents and inner perceptions of their study surroundings through photography. The topic of the 2nd BAUHAUS4EU Photography Contest, "My City, My University", explores the relationship between universities and their surrounding cities.

Students are encouraged to visualize the synergy between urban life and academic spaces, emphasizing mutual benefit and a sense of belonging beyond campus walls. Interested? Find all the information you need and enrol here!

New Podcast Episode: Rethinking Beauty in European Universities

Recorded at the University of Macedonia, this episode explores what "beauty" can mean within a European University Alliance. Moving beyond aesthetics and architecture, the conversation considers beauty through the lenses of belonging, participation, sustainability, inclusion, and co-creation.

Our host, Maria Chanioti, is joined by Yannis Oplasis and Thananin Stathopoulos to discuss how universities can create environments where people feel a genuine sense of belonging – and where everyone has the opportunity to actively shape the communities they are part of. Listen, follow, and join the conversation!

BTH Brings Students and Entrepreneurs Together to Explore Entrepreneurship and Innovation

Blekinge Institute of Technology (BTH) recently welcomed Prince Daniel's Fellowship to Karlskrona for a discussion on entrepreneurship, innovation and the challenges of turning ideas into successful ventures. The event brought together students, entrepreneurs and members of the local community.

The initiative provided students with both inspiration and practical insights into entrepreneurship, while highlighting the potential of collaboration between academia, entrepreneurs and the wider community to support innovation and bring new ideas to life. Read more here!
